3 SECTION 1. TEACHERS PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT IN-
4 STITUTES.

5 (a) IN GENERAL.—Part A of title II of the Elemen-
6 tary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C.
7 6601 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the fol-
8 lowing:

1     “Subpart 6—Teachers Professional Development
2                                   Institutes

3     “SEC. 2161. SHORT TITLE.

4             “‘This subpart may be cited as the ‘Teachers Profes-
5 sional Development Institutes Act’.

6     “SEC. 2162. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

7             “(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following find-
8 ings:

9                     “(1) Teaching is central to the educational 10 process and the ongoing professional development of 11 teachers in the subjects they teach is essential for 12 improved student learning.

13                    “(2) Attaining the goal of the No Child Left 14 Behind Act of 2001 (Public Law 107–110)—having 15 a classroom teacher who is highly effective in every 16 academic subject the teacher teaches—will require 17 innovative approaches to improve the effectiveness of 18 teachers in the classroom.

19                    “(3) The Teachers Institute Model focuses on 20 the continuing academic preparation of school-
21 teachers and the application of what the teachers 22 study to their classrooms and potentially to the 23 classrooms of other teachers.

24                    “(4) The Teachers Institute Model was devel-25 oped initially by the Yale-New Haven Teachers In-

1       stitute and has successfully operated in New Haven,
2       Connecticut, for more than 30 years.

3               “(5) The Teachers Institute Model has also 4       been successfully implemented in cities larger than 5       New Haven.

6               “(6) In the spring of 2009, a report entitled
7       ‘An Evaluation of Teachers Institute Experiences’ 8       concluded that—

9                       “(A) Teachers Institutes enhance precisely
10       those teacher qualities known to improve stu-
11       dent achievement;

12                      “(B) Teachers Institutes exemplify the 13       crucial characteristics of high-quality teacher 14       professional development; and

15                      “(C) Teachers Institute participation is 16       strongly related to teacher retention in high-
17       poverty schools.

18       “(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this subpart is to 19       provide Federal assistance to support the establishment
20       and operation of Teachers Institutes for local educational 21       agencies that serve significant low-income student popu-
22       lations in States throughout the Nation, in order to—

23                      “(1) improve student learning; and 24                      “(2) enhance the quality and effectiveness of 25       teaching and strengthen the subject matter mastery

1 and the pedagogical skills of current teachers
2 through continuing teacher preparation.
